

Note: there's a big gap in the level of abstraction that the CPU understands vs. the level at which we think.
Compilers help bridge the gap.